eb & flow

Eboni Ellis, also known as DJ Eb & Flow, is a skilled and passionate DJ from Washington, D.C., currently flowing between D.C. and Los Angeles.

With a deep connection to music of the diaspora, culture, and community, Eb & Flow excels at curating music, vibes, and experiences using the open-format method. As she moves between coasts and even globally, Eb & Flow has consistently showcased her talents through parties, festivals, live performances, weddings, corporate events, brand activations, and political campaigns.

Eb & Flow also holds a number of residencies that range from clubs to bars, lounges, restaurants, and name-brand retail spaces.

Additionally, Eboni is actively involved in a range of music and arts-related projects, including music licensing and supervision, songwriting, playlist curation, arts and stage management, and music education. Through these creative and cultural efforts, she continues to support artists, productions, and emerging talent while contributing to the broader music and arts community.

A graduate of Spelman College, Eboni earned a double degree in Sociology and Anthropology and founded the Spelman College Women in Hip-Hop Collective. She was also selected as a 2025 Nike Yardrunner 6.0, further recognizing her commitment to culture, community, and creative leadership.
